OUR LOCAL AFFAIRS.

CONDITION OF THE CITY JAIL. ters of the Females, the Feed, &c., &c.

Dr. Charles S. Mills and Messrs. George
A. Hundley and Thomas Potts, the commissioners appointed by Judge Atkins to inspect the juil of this city, have made their report, which will be duly certified to the City Council.

They call dattention to the peculiarly exposed condition of the female prisoners confined in the upper story of the jail. These unfortunate women are so cut off from These unfortunate women are so cut off from external communication and so secluded but we fear many of them might be lost in case of fire before they could be rescued, as water, under the existing arrangement, can only be conveyed from the fire-plug outside of the jall enclosure. We would suggest that a fire-plug be erected in that portion of the building, and the water conducted there in pipes properly secured against freezing, and the requisite hose supplied and kept ready for instant use at all times."

The commissioners recommend that the supplied and kept ready for instant use at all times."

The commissioners recommend that the yard be better lighted and that there be an improvement of the heating apparatus.

"Some apprehension is felt in regard to the condition of the castern extremity of the outer wall on the north side, which for several feet above its base is so thoroughly saturated with moisture as to threaten its security. This wall is some forty or fifty feet high—reaching nearly to the roof of the jail—and its fall would be attended with serious disaster. We are not qualified to say that any such danger really exists, but our attention having been called to it, we think it worthy of examination.

"We are pleased to be able to report that we found the jail throughout kept in an orderly and satisfactory condition, all its spartments thoroughly clean and neat, and the walls lime-washed, as required by law. The inspection of the stores intended as food for the prisoners did not afford the same satisfaction. Some of them were adjudged by us very interior in quality, and the harrings on hand not altogether sound. We so stated to the jailer, who promised to substitute better. Press meat is furnished three times a week, but it seems that they receive neither wheat-bread nor succulent vegetables, which, though a grateful chance, it is from the means the means the means of them. they receive neither wheat-oreat nor suc-culent vegetables, which, though a grateful change, it is thought night render them more liable to bodily derangements. Some little variety occasionally would not be amiss.

"The law evidently contemplates a separate confinement of 'convicts and those not convicts.' Here no such separation exists, no discrimination being made between those who have been tried and found Evidently it is not right to subject to the same freatment those imprisoned on mere suspicion, whom the law presumes to be innocent, and those who have been tried and found guilty, and yet in this jail we do not think it possible to carry out the requirements of the law in this respect. We, therefore, simply report the fact to your Honor without presuming to suggest any Honer without presuming to suggest any rewedy, as we do not think it practicable in this bullding without such a complete remodelling of it as would be almost tantament to building a new one."

The commissioners say they found in the jail on the day of their visit 132 prisoners, of whom 24 are white and 108 colored—23 white mates, one white female; 76 colored males and 32 colored females.

They think, for reasons stated at length, males and 32 colored females.

They think, for reasons stated at length, that "at would be advisable, in the exercise of a wise foresight, for the city of Riehmend to make arrangements for the ercetion of such a prison as in every re-spect will conform to the requirements of law and present enlighteoment."

the claim was take, and no are was found.

It was puzzling to the firemen, and they went to their quarters disgusted.
Various theories were advanced. Some old firemen said that years ago the Chief and the Superintendent had no private signal, and that a daily alarm was, instead, turned in at 1 o'clock P. M. This was the test then. Now the signals are used, and some firemen thought that this had deranged the service. The Superintendent uses No. 9 as his cail, the Chief 82. Another firemen said that he knew an occasion once when a part of an alarm was turned in one morning, and the next the remnant of the same was repeated without effort. He thought something of this sort a reasonable way to account for the strange alarms.

Another philosopher thought the wires had become tangled, and that the precautionary sigrals sent in early yesterday morning bad hopped off and found their way into wrong boxes. Evidently the system was out of gear and wouldn't work, but where the fault laid was unknown.

At 12;30 o'clock last night another alarm was turned in from Box 25, near Seventh and Canal streets.

An Insane Engineer Terrifies His Passen

(Scrautor (Pa.) Republican, July Stn.]
James Street, whose residence is on Sanderson avenue, was until last Thursday loderson avenue, was until last Thursday locomotive engineer on the Lehigh and Susquehanna division of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company. For many years be was in the employ of the New Jersey Central Railroad Company. He ran the fastest train on the road, and was considered to be one of its very best engineers.
He had always been exceedingly careful,
and accidents to his train were uncommon.
For several months nast Street is said to For several months past Street is said to have had his mind on some sort of an in-vention pertaining to railroading, and it is supposed that he has lost his mental equi-librium in consequence.

supposed that he has lost his mental equilibrium in consequence.

Last Thursday he started from Easton for Green Ridge with his passenger train. He ran it as well and as earefully as usual until he approached the Mauch Chunk station. Then he put on a full head of steam and shot past the station at a frightful rate of specif, rounding the sharp curves, who desired to take the train for the North.
They were almost dumfounded to see the train fly past the station. Its speed seemed to increase as the distance between it and the station increased. The waiting passengers had never witnessed such a sight before as they wondered at the peculiarity of the experience, while the people on the train behind the insane engineer became more and more frightened as they flew over the iron highway. Among the watchers on and more frightened as they flew over the iron highway. Among the watchers on the platform of the Mauch Chunk station was the local superintendent of the railroad. He surmised that something was wrong with Engineer Street, for he had never known that hitherto faithful employe to disobey any rule of the road.

After the train had gone a mile or two past Mauch Chunk the conductor pulled the beli-cord and stopped the train. Then he went to the curine and saw that Engineeric and saw that Engineeric means the same and saw that Engineeric means a saw that Engineeric means and saw that Engineeric means a saw t

In the City Circuit Court yesterday the case of Frank A. Clarke (infant, suing by his next triend, Jesse Clarke) against the city of Richmond was tried, and verdet rendered for defendant. Damages were chaimed in $5,000 for injuries alleged to have been caused October 20, ISS3, by a fall plaintiff had, and which he ascribed to the carcless condition in which Fourth street between Byrd and Canal, then undergoing improvement, had been left by the city authorities.

Five to One.

A telegram to us from Norfolk says: The Virginios arrived here from Richmond this morning and played the Norfolks at Gymnasium Park this afternoon in the presence of nearly two thousand spectators. The Virginias won by a score of 5 to 1. This is five times as long as any previous season of the kind, and a very low estimate, based on the water collected from a certain roof, places the total fail of water in rain and roof, places the total fail of water in rain and anow at 30 inches during the five months. I am certain this is far below the true figure. The mists that for weeks hung on the hill-tops and spread over the valleys reminded one mere of a landscape in Oregan than of one in Nevada. Now the hills and valleys that before, as far as the memory of man runneth, were clothed in an unvarying robe of desolate brown and gray, are green as emerald, and at least a hundred kind of wild flowers have been brought to perfection during the short intervals of sunshine. tion during the short intervals of sunshine

MILITARY ASSASSINS. A Spanish Officer in Cuba Murders His Allies.

A Spanish Officer in Cuba Marders His Allies.

A Havana letter says: On June 23d a Segua paper announced that a commander of volunteer cavairy encountered a party of se-called bendits, of whom he had killed three, capturing some arms, and the bravery of the commander was noted, with the additional fact that he was in pursuit of the rest of the party. The story, which was probably the official report of the officer in question, was copied by all the papers. It now appears from a statement by a brother of one of the slain that the whole affair was a premeditated and cold-blooded murder, and that the "bandits" referred to were a party of honorable men. The narrator's brother, with others of the jurisdiction of Colon, organized with a view to the pursuit of Aguero, unembarrassed by the methods of the regular troops. Their plan was submitted to, and approved by, the Captain-General, who gave them a written authorization, while the chief of the civil guard supplied them with arms. Having commenced operations, three of them on the evening of the 19th ultimo reached a farm near La Macagna. They had hardly arrived when a number of men under the orders of the commander of volunteer cavalry, who was operating in the vienity, came to the farm and requested the three men to go with commander of volunteer cavalry, who was operating in the vicinity, came to the farm and requested the three men to go with them to the commander, who required their services. They acceded, but hardly had they left the farm when they were disarmed, bound, and shot, and their bodies left where they fell, until at the end of three days they were carried in an ordinary cart, to a malerborrier ried in an ordinary cart to a neighboring village. The guide, whom the assassing impressed to show them the way to the farm, witnessed all that occurred, and ther farm, witnessed all that occurred, and then made his escape, and is protected by the Mayor of La Macagna, who defies the trensers of the cavalry captain. Jealousy excited by the authority with which the captain-general had invested the murdered men is the supposed motive of the crime, which shows to what dangers the country is exposed by the defective organization of the irregular troops, which the poverty of the Government country is to emology.
